

Abstract

The present invention relates to a smart card web comprising a carrier web which comprises circuitry patterns, each having an integrated circuit at suitable spaces one after another and/or next to each other and at least one cover web attached to the carrier web. The carrier web and the cover web are attached by a thermoplastic adhesive bonding film web.